PROPOSAL TITLE (10 words)

Trikelet: the most compact foldable electric scooter in the world

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY (50 words)

Bird and Lime are very successful in e-scooter sharing for inner city mobility. However customers want private mobility without transfer delays (walking). The Trikelet compact foldable e-scooter gives that freedom, while it can be taken along easily in your car, in your apartment, in your office or by train.

SOLUTION NARRATIVE (250 words)

The weakest link in any public transit system is the so called "last mile". The distance that has to be travelled from the bus stop, railway station or from the car parking to the destination. For a seamless commute there should be no transfer delays between the modes of mobility. Giant companies like Tencent, Alibaba and others invest billions in dockless bike and dockless e-scooter sharing schemes as Mobike, Ofo, Bird and Lime. However as a last mile solution, dockless bike and e-scooter sharing has severe limitations. There is not enough space around the mobility focus points (mass transit hubs, central business districts, shopping malls, tourist attractions) for dockless bike parking. A number of cities already severely restricted the use of dockless bicycle and e-scooter sharing. For commuters it is not an attractive proposition either, because there are again transfer delays (from your office to the place where the dockless bicycle or e-scooter is situated). The solution is the compact foldable electric scooter Trikelet. This is a three wheeled electric scooter, that can be folded extremely compact and taken along as a standard luggage trolley in your office, apartment or car. Riding the Trikelet is easy and comfortable.

During the ride the person stands on the footboard. The riders bag can be placed in the casing in the front. Folded the Trikelet fits easily in any car trunk and in the luggage compartment of most trains or under the seat. The Trikelet is compact and clean and easy to handle.
