Dear Amanda

Thank you for your letter. We appreciate your input in this matter, but as we have stated before, we have decided to remain in the project to be able to use our influence to improve the situation for the local communities. I strongly believe that a withdrawal from the project will not improve the situation for the local communities. In response to our requirements, a Community Development Plan has been developed to address negative aspects of the project and to enhance the relations with the affected communities. Green Resources is now obliged to show demonstrable progress in a number of important areas – all to be followed-up and verified by external consultants/auditors. More information can be found on our website.

We will continue to monitor the social and environmental aspects of the Kachung project and we invite you to take part in this process, for example in bilateral meetings with us and/or the forthcoming audit.

Best wishes,

Erik Brandsma,
Director General
Swedish Energy Agency
